TALK ABOUT POLITICS.

Editor Modill Talks to a Reporter... Carter Harrison's Remarks.

Payno or Randall—John C. New Declines to State His Preference

—Hanson's Cox on Tariff—

WASHINGTON CITY, April 5.—Editor Joseph Modill, of the Chicago Tribune, is in Washington for the first time in seven years. He is here for rest and recreation. He said to a correspondent:

"I believe Logan will have the Illinois delegation without any trouble."

"What do you think of Arthur?"

"His course is generally approved. My opinion of him is best told in a story. One of your Democratic after-dinner orators recently, in speaking to the toast of the president, said that he never could forget that there was in the White House the son of an Irishman and a gentleman."

"What do you think of his chances?"

"Oh, you must talk to the Arthur brothers about that. It is not in my line."

"Do you think the Democrats will gain anything agitating the tariff question?"

"No, the Republicans is the only party that will be trusted to perform this work. The fifty-seven Democrats opposing Morrison are really Republicans. I regard Sam Randall as a Republican. He goes even beyond the Republicans in his conservatism. Whenever an result is made upon the work of the Republicans, we at once feel sympathy and support from the Republicans in the Democratic party."

Mr. Modill thinks the tariff will be the main issue of the campaign. He jokingly said he understood Tilden would consent to run again if his old competitor, Hayes, could be brought to the front by the Republicans. "But," said Mr. Modill, "Hayes is too modest."

Payno or Randall.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 6.—The correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer furnishes his paper the following: Concerning Tilden to be out of the race, the coolest and clearest headed Democrats narrow the choice to two candidates in the race, Henry B. Payno, of Ohio, and Samuel J. Randall, of Pennsylvania. Sometimes these names are linked together, with Payno at the head. Payno is stronger than Randall, because of a sense of security that he could carry Ohio in the October election, and thus get the drift and float toward him a month in advance in the greater contest. As with Tilden, though, there is the same element of uncertainty as to Mr. Payno's desires. No one believes him to be a candidate in the race that he seeks the nomination. There are but few men who do not candidly take him at his word as avers to it. Still, it is a conviction that he, in spite of his aversion to the nomination, would accept it for the good of his party, his name stands next to Tilden, foremost of all the candidates. With Payno the candidate the Republicans could not array the business classes of the country against him, and this would be the reason why he is the strongest candidate for the year was turned against Hancock to his defeat.

"Sunset" Cox on the Tariff.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 5.—Representative Cox has written a letter to the president of the Young Men's Democratic club of New York city, expressing regrets at his inability to be present at their free trade dinner. In this letter, referring to the Morrison bill, Mr. Cox pronounces it "moderation itself," and asks if there is any valid reason why any enlightened economist should refuse to support it. He says, "I do not regret," he says, "that this question of tariff reform should depend so much on partisan considerations. It is a question in whose solution the welfare and prosperity of the whole people are involved. I would be glad indeed if it were totally eliminated from partisan politics. It would then have fairer play and better opportunities for successful legislation. Nor do I despair even now at this time of the session. Some good work will result if we can get a tariff reform bill passed. Congress, Cox says, has for many years imposed restrictions on commerce and has fostered some industries at the expense of others with a view to developing manufacturing and maintaining high wages for operatives. But protection, he maintains, cripples industry, and keeps genius in its swaddling clothes. The custom house is a necessary evil, a frontier system of affront which surrounds the nation with a cordon of robbers."

Carter Harrison's Ticket.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Mayor Harrison denies the story that he said Tilden had a candidate for president and says his assertion was that Chicago had no candidate. With reference to his own gubernatorial candidacy he said:

"And right here I would say that I never told anybody that I am a candidate for the governorship. I don't want the office."

"When did you make that discovery?" since Hamilton's withdrawal?"

"Well, no, I never wanted it. But if I did want it I think I would find it easier to take it away from Hamilton than from Oglesby. But I don't think Oglesby is invulnerable. I think Oglesby can be defeated under certain circumstances."

"What are the circumstances?"

"The nomination of Tilden for president and Morrison for vice president."

"Do you mean it?"

"Never was more positive of anything in my life. With that ticket we could carry Illinois."

"Would not a ticket made up of Tilden and Harrison perform the same feat?"

"My modesty forbids me answering that question," replied the mayor, as he retired to his private office to apply the knife to the appropriation bill.

Some showed employe of the water office posted up a ticket which he was prepared to say would sweep the county. It was made up of Tilden, of New York, for president, and Harrison, of Illinois, for vice president.

New Declines to Commit Himself.

CHICAGO, April 5.—"I don't think that it would be as wise for me to publicly express an opinion upon the presidential question," said John C. New, of Indianapolis, member of the Republican national subcommittee. "I, presumably, feel that since the party has appointed me as one of its committees to represent its interests in the manner best adopted to bring about unprejudiced and fair work in the convention—I say under those circumstances it is my duty to remain silent on the political question at present. I don't mean you to infer that I have no preference in the matter—I have favorites, of course. I will say this much: I know that the Republican party is going to elect the next president, and don't you forget it."

Is in the Field.

CHICAGO, April 5.—"I am a candidate in the field for lieutenant governor," said Gen. John F. Rinkler, of Conterville, Ill., at the Grand Pacific hotel. "I intend making a warm contest against Smith, although I do not at present know the strength of the force that he commands. A great many have told me that the strength is not sufficient for a presidential year."

Tammany Will Be There.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Tammany hall has decided to go to the national Democratic convention to be held in Chicago, July 4, in a special train, which will be decorated with flags and banners. Three bands of music will be engaged, and already 500 members of the organization have signified their intention of making the trip.

THE LATE CYCLONE.

Migration at Oakville, Ind.—The storm in the South.

Muskegon, Ind., April 5.—Oakville, Ind.

some of the terrible calamity last Tuesday, is a horror to think of, much as the weather is warmer and the sufferer are not exposed to wintry blasts. All day long there has been an almost constant stream of visitors to the scene, and the stricken inhabitants, unable to build and without houses to move into, have wandered about the place, hunting for lost household goods, but without energy to begin to clear away the ruins. Mrs. William Lines, whose husband was killed two miles east of Oakville, was dying in her sick-bed with a baby one day old, when the cyclone struck the house and literally annihilated it, leaving her exposed to heavy rain and hail which followed, and at last reports she was alive. Mrs. James Rutledge had a like experience.

Every day brings forth additional horrors. Turner Johnson, son of C. C. Johnson, who had his skull crushed and who was not expected to live, has been blind since the calamity; he had an operation performed and his sight was restored. His mother, who was seriously wounded and who lost her memory, has recovered her mind and is considered out of danger. C. W. Fleming, hurt in the head and internally, is very low and can not recover. Bartle Hale, a reporter from away, found dead half a mile from home, tangled up all night. When the storm came up he was in the barn and ran out. The storm caught him up and cast him against the scales, where he held on until the storm passed by. Alexander Paine, a reporter from the Chicago Tribune, right. Some idea may be gained of the effect of the force of the wind by the fact that it blew feathers out of a large number of chickens. The committee has been busy relieving the wants of the needy, and will not be satisfied probably outside of the county.

The Southern Blow.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 4.—The following further particulars of Tuesday night's cyclone have been received from a gentleman from McMinn's Cave: The storm crossed McMinn's cave about 5 o'clock, blowing down trees, houses and everything. The residence of Oliver Thurman in the cave was torn to atoms and Mrs. Thurman seriously injured. All the outbuildings were demolished. On the Killgore and Anderson farms five residences were destroyed, but no person was injured. On Lookout mountain the destruction to timber and houses was complete. The house of Mr. Tatum was blown to atoms and the family carried away. After the storm, the family returned to a neighbor, procured lights, and returned to find her husband lying under a pile of rubbish. He was taken out and was found to be alive, though it was thought he would never recover. One of the children was found under some heavy timber crushed to death. The other children were found at different places more or less injured. From McMinn's cave about the destruction was complete in the track. A. Dickson's saw-mill and residence and all the outbuildings, were destroyed. On the Calhoun farm the brick residence and all other buildings were swept away. All the houses on the farm of Capt. Frank Young, on Armistead creek, were torn to shivers.

The Atlantic Gale.

BALTIMORE, April 5.—Advices from the bay at the extent of the injury wrought by the gale of Wednesday night are meagre, but what little information that has been received shows that the storm was severe and doubtless caused great loss of life and property. The sale bill from the caps to the land of the bay and storm signals are displayed at every point. The smaller craft do not venture out on the bay at all. Many boats were up from the shoals were caught in the storm, and which reached the city full and accurate reports of the destruction in the lower bay cannot be given. Capt. Edward Ross, of the schooner Hester Ann, was knocked overboard by a flying spar and the schooner. The schooner George W. Hardesty and Virginia, which were broken loose from a tug Wednesday night, have not yet been heard from. It is feared they have been capsized and all lives lost. Two pungees were seen ashore in Rock Point creek. Their names cannot be learned. The schooner Osprey is ashore in Chester river. A report prevails that a schooner and six lives were lost of Smith's island Thursday, but it has not been verified. No particulars of the accident have been received.

Railway Items.

DETROIT, April 5.—The annual report of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern railroad for 1894, just issued, shows gross earnings for the calendar year of $1,503,444, a decrease from earnings of 1893 of $209; operating expenses, $1,563,550, a decrease from 1893 of $7,490; net earnings, $93,894, a decrease from 1893 of $338,500 have been paid. The total mileage operated by the road is 350.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 5.—The federal judge, Caldwell, has issued an order for selling the Memphis & Little Rock road in thirty days, unless payment be made to R. K. Dow and other trustees, of the amount of the mortgage liens. The court declined to appoint a receiver.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—The Cleveland Rolling-mill company, of Cleveland, Ohio, has obtained judgment in the United States circuit court against the Texas & St. Louis Railway company for $75,448, in a suit on a contract for the delivery of 15,000 tons of Bessemer steel rails.

Nonintents.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 5.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations: Postmasters—Carey G. Colburn, Wyoming; H. K. Morgan, South Carolina; J. W. Hargreaves, Robinson, Ill.; L. J. Merriam, St. Joseph, Mo.; T. Streeter, Calumet, Mich.; R. Smith, Ithaca, Mich.; J. Crawford, Allport, Mich.; R. Smith, Harrison, Mich.; J. Cole, Fremont, Mich.; J. K. Flood, Hart, Mich.; E. S. Hargreaves, Mich.; J. D. Jones, Mich.; J. A. Phillips, Wis.; J. A. Porter, Anoka, Minn.; W. Pettor, Atkins, Minn.; J. Brown, Edina, Mo. Commodore Clarke H. Well to be a rear admiral.

Failure Record.

NEW YORK, April 5.—There were 143 failures in the United States reported to Bradstreet during the past week, against 123 in preceding week, and 100, 119 and 118 in the corresponding weeks of 1893, 1892, and 1891 respectively.

A Remedy for Lung Diseases.

Dr. Robert Norton, late president of the Electric college of the city of New York, and formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio, used Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam very extensively in his practice, as many of his patients, now living and restored to health by the use of this invaluable medicine, can amply testify. He always said that no good remedy ought to be prescribed freely by every physician as a sovereign remedy in all cases of lung diseases. It cures consumption, and has no equal for all pectoral complaints.

We Represent THIRTY SOUND COMPANIES, being the largest agency in the Northwest. Among our companies are The Oldest, the Strongest in America, England, or in the World. They are truly TIME TRIED AND FIRE TESTED. Many of these Companies have been through all the terrible conflagrations of the last FIFTY OR ONE HUNDRED YEARS—the great fires of London, of New York, of Portland, of St. Louis, of St. Johns, of Boston and Chicago, and have always paid one hundred cents on the dollar and are now as SOLID AS THE ROCKS, after paying millions upon millions to their patrons. Between three and four hundred Insurance Companies in this country have gone to the wall—either failed outright or re-insured their risks and retired from the field since 1870, and more or the weaklings will go year by year. The one hundred millions of dollars annually destroyed by fire in this country is sure to bankrupt them. Our rates are as low as other responsible companies. All honest losses fairly and promptly adjusted and paid. The best is the cheapest.
